I originally wanted to make a website of my own personal resume, but I finally changed my mind to do something really interesting and meaningful. Therefore I chose to make a resume website for my dog. It can be said that Persi is my first real pet dog and his appearance completely changed my life and redefined my understanding of the relationship between human and pets. Before he came to my life, I was a person with sharing issues.

When he was coming to my home only two weeks old, I never thought that I would live in peace with him and be with him as his most close family number. But the process of growing up with him completely changed my personality from a "cold blood" person to be a real patient and caring one. He enriched my life, making me feel that I was also being needed and loved.

The audience of my resume may be my family and me. We love our dog, and he is part of our family. I hope this website will be preserved as our memorial.
